LEDGARD NEAR TO DEATH IN ESCAPE FROM HONAN HORDE

Villagers Try To Slay Him But Cartridge Proves "Dud"

TRAIL OF RUIN

Bandits Slaughter And Rape Dwellers In Wide Area

BY C. N. LACK
(Special to The China Press)

Yencheng, Honan, Nov. 14.—Village after village has been burned and Honan is being terrorised by wholesale murders and rape, according to Mr. H. E. Ledgard of the China Inland Mission who arrived here today with a thrilling story of his two weeks captivity among bandits which ended with a hair-raising escape from death under dramatic circumstances on October 28.

Mr. Ledgard managed to make his escape from the bandit army which has been terrorising Honan near Loanhsien when he found himself at the tail end of the bandit nomads and guarded only by three armed men. He persuaded two of the bandits to escape from the band with him while making a brief rest stop in a village. The two men finally agreed and over-powered the third bandit guard and disarmed him.

Just at that moment the villagers, who had gathered together all the fighting arms they could, suddenly surrounded the small bandit gang and prepared to stand them up against a wall and shoot them all. Mr. Ledgard protested that he was a foreign missionary but they would not believe him at first as he was dressed like the bandits and was so dirty and disheveled that he appeared to be one of their number.

BARELY ESCAPED DEATH

The three men who had been guarding Mr. Ledgard were shot by the villagers. Then a gun was leveled at him and the trigger pulled by a villager. By a happy freak of fate the cartridge failed to explode and Mr. Ledgard ran for his life.

After many other thrilling experiences Mr. Ledgard finally reached the railway line and this afternoon was restored to his wife and little boy. Mr. Ledgard reports that there are still several American missionaries, the 5-year old son of an American missionary two Frenchmen and one Italian priest in the hands of the bandits.

Mrs. Soderstrom, the only other China Inland Mission worker in the hands of the bandits, was released in Anhwei some time ago.

Mr. Ledgard, a China Inland Mission worker at Shanghai, was captured by the bandits on October 28. The details of his capture were given in a special despatch to THE CHINA PRESS three days in advance of any other newspaper. As soon as the news of the capture reached Mr. C. N. Lack correspondent for THE CHINA PRESS at Yencheng, he sent for Mrs. Ledgard, and the Ledgard's small son.

Mrs. Soderstrom and her daughter were captured about the same time. Miss Soderstrom was released almost immediately but Mrs. Soderstrom is still in the bandits' hands. Mrs. Soderstrom was offered her freedom if she would carry a letter demanding several hundred rifles, but as her daughter was still held then, she refused to leave.

BANDITS REPULSED

(China Press Service)

Hankow, Nov. 14.—The hordes of Honan bandits have been driven out of the Kin-Han Railway zone by the combined forces of Gen. Chin Yun-ao and Gen. Chang Fu-lai. The bandits, however, are still entrenching themselves along the region of Tienmoshan near Kichhsien, preparatory to a resumption of attack. General Chin has halted the pursuit of the bandits, as his army is in dire need of reinforcement. Gen. Wu Pei-fu has ordered one division of troops hithere stationed at Chengchow to proceed to Yenching and replace the Chengchow garrison with one brigade of troops from Loyang.

Smiles From The Mixed Court

There are tricks to all trades, as Benjamin Franklin, or some other assorter of facts, once remarked, and the gentle art of chicken-thievery is no exception to the adage. The same being substantiated many a time and oft in the records of the Mixed Court. Sometimes it has been the dampened pea containing the deftly coiled bamboo spring which brought some potential fricasee to grief and the perpetrator of the premature shuffle off into the dock; again it would be the carefully laid train of rice grains, culminating, round the corner, in the wide-mouthed burlap sack. These are favorite methods locally and Assessors and Magistrates without number have heard of their efficacy. Wong Ah-kung, however, brought in an interesting innovation the other day.

Wong was proceeding along Shantung Road last Sunday when something in his bearing and an odd looking bulge at his waistline claimed the attention of Chinese Police Constable 836. He was reluctant to talk, so the policeman jerked open his jacket, producing a chorus of indignant squawks and a brace of kicking leghorns. Following this discovery Wong became even less talkative than previously. Further search of his costume failed to disclose anything except a handful of shelled peanuts—which had a bearing on the situation not suspected by the C. P. C.

"Whose chickens are they?" the desk sergeant wanted to know when the itinerant hen-house was brought before him.

"I don't know," vouchsafed Wong.

"Where'd you get em?" demanded the sergeant.

"I stole them," says Wong.

After this damaging admission the officials asked for more particulars, and Wong outlined his method of procedure. The slit-pea-bamboo-slivver mode of bagging unwary, wandering fowls he decried as both inhumane and antiquated. The practise of scooping the birds into baited sacks he regarded as crude and tedious, not to mention the chances of interruption. As for himself, he chose to employ the peanut system.

"The which?" ejaculated the sergeant.

"Just peanuts," reiterated Wong, and went on to explain how simple it was. He wandered about with a pint of husked peanuts in his pocket, he said, until he chanced across a fowl not too approximate to its base. Then he tossed it a peanut. The bird gulped its prize—and Wong grabbed the bird.

"You see," explained the poultry fancier, "until the peanut gets well down into its crop the chicken can't make a sound. So there's little difficulty."

The two specimens Wong was found with he said he had captured along the Soochow Creek, and he was taking them to a poultry store for disposal at the market rate.

The Court was evidently pleased with Wong's frankness for he will only be removed from public life for a week.

STATUS QUO?

There being dissension in the Mo family Madame Mo packed her share of the household furnishings into three boxes and announced that she was going over to live with mother. Mo said that program suited him right down to the ground and so they said goodby, waiving the formality of farewell kisses, and the incident seemed to be satisfactorily closed.

And so it would had been but for Tsang Roong-faung. Tsang, it seems, was a sort of a mutual friend of the estranged pair. He happened to be lingering around the neighborhood when Mme. Mo flounced out of her former domicile. Inquiring politely into the reason for her determined and vocally magnificent exit, he expressed a seemly sorrow over this lamentable condition of affairs, indicated a grieved assent to the many shortcomings of Mr. Mo and offered to see that Mme. Mo's boxes reached her mother's home in safety. Mme. Mo said how nice and kind a man Mr. Tsang was and what a noble example among an overwhelming majority of masculine vipers. Whereat Mr. Tsang blushed becomingly, made depreciating remarks about the duties of friendship, loaded the lady into a ricsha and stated that he would follow presently with the boxes in other rickshas.

While the prodigal daughter was regaling the maternal ears with vivid descriptions of the disqualifications of friend spouse things were happening to her

British Consul-General Officiates At Opening Of New Jardine Building

Many Visitors Inspect Fine New Structure On The Bund; Mr. Sidney Barton And Mr. John Johnstone Speak

Jardine, Matheson and Company's new building on The Bund was formally opened yesterday morning with appropriate ceremonies at which Mr. Sidney Barton, the British Consul-General, and Mr. John Johnstone, the Ewo Managing Director made short and fitting addresses. A large number of prominent Shanghai business men and officials were present at the formal opening.

Mr. Barton in his address said that the history of Ewo was practically the history of British trade in China.

A direct descendant of the East India Co. was a founder or an employe of the old Jardine Company. The firm was started in Canton at the beginning of things, and followed the development of the country and the extension of foreign relations with Chinese, and ever since had extended its operations into the new centers of trade as they were opened from time to time during the past 80 years, until now it spread from Harbin in the North to Chengtu in the West. Those relations were written in the history of the hong.

TALKS OF SYMBOLS

Referring to the magnificent building in which they were to be the Consul-General said that there were two things which struck him on coming into the building: one was—not including of course its essentially rugged and granite appearance—which was typical of its founders—he was struck by the coat of arms over the door and the Chinese inscription at the side of the door. These two things, he ventured to think, were not merely natural decorations but seemed to stand for the two features that had distinguished the firm in its past history out here.

The firm essentially carried on tradition, and they all admitted that without tradition it was very difficult to carry on any enterprise. The tradition which that coat of arms inspires had been exemplified in the dealings of the firm, especially, he thought, in its sense of public service. That firm had always been willing to produce men who have taken some, if not more than their fair share of the burden of public work in China, and that was one of the mainstays of the whole British position out here.

So long, as they had firms willing to take a share in the public work they could face the future. Without them they would be in a bad way.

THE INSCRIPTION

The Chinese inscription indicated another trail, and that was one of sympathy with the people with whom they lived. They had a distinct meaning and value to the persons there that day, the representatives of the Chinese amongst whom they lived. It was not an empty one, it was not a mere form, but the words were indicative of that sympathy with the people amongst whom they lived.

Whatever they may have to fear in the future—and they had

HARDOON SCHOOL STUDENTS STRIKE STILL CONTINUES

Pupils Appeal For Reorganisation To Provincial Educational Association

An appeal has been made by students of the Hardoon College, Hardoon Garden, to the Kiangsu Educational Association to reorganise the college in accordance with suggestions recently made by the students. This action was taken as the result of the partial strike which has taken place on account of the alleged cruelty of the principal, Chi Cho-nee, towards the students.

The Kiangsu Association, while expressing sympathy with the students, has agreed to write to the principal for information regarding the cause of the strike, intimating that it is not in position to interfere with the internal management of the college since the latter is a private institution.

Strikers, in a statement issued to the press, alleged that a ten-year-old boy was severely caned yesterday by the principal because he had refused to sign a statement admitting that he had been pursuaded by instigators to join the strike. It is also reported that Mr. Waung, instructor in German, has been dismissed by Chi because of his sympathy with the students.

HANKOW VOICES PROTEST UPON HONAN OUTRAGES

Residents Urge Legations To Take Effective Action To End Banditry

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, Nov. 15.—A meeting of Hankow residents has been called for this evening at which the following resolution will be proposed:

"The meeting views with consternation the unchecked and growing lawlessness prevalent throughout China which recently culminated in the outbreak in Honan with an organised attack on foreign life and property.

"The meeting demands that effective action be taken to secure the immediate release of the captives, that adequate steps be devised by the foreign Governments to ensure the future security of their nationals in China.

"Also that the principle of the responsibility of the Central Government for maintaining law shall be enforced and the Governments held accountable for failures in this regard."

LONDON VOTING BEGINS IN FOG; WOMEN A FACTOR

How The 9,000,000 Feminine Votes Will Go Adds To Uncertainty

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 15.—The General Election campaign of 1922 concluded last night with a torrent of political oratory which, taken right through, has not been paralleled in previous contests. Polling began at seven o'clock this morning in some constituencies and will continue till nine o'clock tonight but in the majority of the divisions the usual twelve hours, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., are being observed.

The fog which has enveloped London for the past 72 hours shows signs of lifting, and will thus remove one of the dismal conditions of a typical November day which are likely to deter women proceeding to the poll.

The 9,000,000 qualified women's vote is regarded as the most uncertain factor of today's uncertainties. Incidentally, the South Kensington female voters outnumber the men.

A heavy poll is generally not anticipated owing to the shadowness of the issues dividing the Conservatives, Liberals and National Liberals and the complexity of the relationship between them.

ARE AGAINST LABOR

One point on which they are all settled, however, is setting a strong face against a Labor Party return. Condemnation of the capital levy proposed by the latter has been the clearest note of the non-Laborites throughout the campaign.

The chances of notable candidates have been canvassed by the newspapers. There are even some of them, friendly to the Prime Minister, notably the Daily Express, which are not too comfortable about the prospects of his return at Glasgow. The position of the Unionists and National Liberals in Scotland is generally upheld to be favorable.

RIOT FOR FOOD

Police Powerless, Ask Aid To Stop The Disturbance

(Reuter's service)

Berlin, Nov. 15.—President Ebert has accepted the resignation of Dr. Wirth's Cabinet.

The Social Democrats had refused to enter any coalition Government that included the German People's Party, with which big industrialists like Herr Hugo Stinnes are associated.

Therefore the attempt to reconstruct the ministry has been abandoned and the Cabinet decided to resign.

POLICE ARE POWERLESS

(French Wireless)

Paris, Nov. 14.—In connection with the food riots at Cologne, the French authorities have forbidden assemblages but the German police declares itself powerless to suppress the movement and is demanding reinforcements. The situation is considered very serious.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—It is reported from Duesseldorf that a collision between the strikers and the police followed an attempt by the former to hold a meeting in defiance of the police prohibition. One striker was killed.

France Is Solvent If Reparations Fail

(French Wireless)

Paris, Nov. 14.—The Reparations Commission is considering the new German proposals with regard to the stabilisation of the mark.

Before the closing of the general debate on the Budget in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, the Minister of Finance in the course of a speech showed that the situation was better than it was thought. He declared, according to the Figaro, that even if, by an impossibility, Germany did not pay, France would never become bankrupt.

EMPRESS, WITH MAIL, DELAYED BY S. O. S. CALL

No Word From C. P. R. Liner; McKinley Sails Early Today For South

Following the China, which docked at the China Merchants' Lower Wharf with a light mail yesterday morning, the next mail from America is due on the Empress of Russia.

The Empress boat which was due at Woosung on Saturday, has been delayed owing to its answering the S. O. S. call from the Japanese freighter Tomi Maru as was reported in THE CHINA PRESS yesterday. No word has yet been received by the local agents from the liner.

Both the President McKinley, which Capt G. T. January brought into port on Tuesday morning and the China will sail at 7 o'clock this morning. The President boat will go to Manila via Hongkong and the China is to make Hongkong as its terminal port.

The next American mail is to be sent on the President Madison on Sunday, to arrive in Seattle via Kobe and Yokohama on December 5. The vessel will leave Hongkong today and arrives in Shanghai next Saturday. The Empress of Canada is due at Woosung from Hongkong early Sunday morning and sails for Vancouver in the evening.

The Siberia Maru of T. K. K. is to carry the Honolulu mail and will leave Woosung this evening. The tender with outgoing passengers will leave the Customs jetty at 3.30 p.m., and incoming passengers are expected to land between 9 and 10 o'clock this morning.

Red Cross Drive Now In High Gear; Goal Is Near

The American Red Cross Roll Call which opened two days ago is progressing with excellent results, according to Mr. Carl Crow, director of the membership drive. Yesterday five more American firms turned in 100 percent quotas, which includes the enrollment of all Americans in the employ of:

The American Oriental Banking Corporation
The Chinese American Publishing Company
Hardwill Brothers
Fearon, Daniel & Co.
The National Aniline and Chemical Company.

A large number of other firms are reported to be nearing the "perfect" quota, and the receiving bootus reported that dozens of subscriptions were received from visitors to Shanghai.

Mr. Crow was enthusiastic over the results attained thus far but emphasised the fact that Americans should not wait for someone to call on them for their membership.

"As many as possible will be personally called upon and asked to subscribe," the director stated, "but with the large American population in Shanghai living so scattered it will be obviously impossible for representatives of the drive to call on all."

Yesterday several patriotic American women volunteered for work in connection with the drive and yesterday Mrs. R. D. Bunn and Miss Lillian M. Wilkinson each turned in a large number of memberships.

However the Director states that there is plenty of work yet to be done and therefore issues a call for volunteers who will be able to devote a few hours a day to such a worthy cause. The headquarters of the Drive are located in the Robert Dollar building, room 302, where all volunteers are urged to apply for assignments.

As a reminder, the yearly membership costs $2 Mex.

DAVE LIGHTNER MAY EVADE JAIL BY TECHNICALITY

Man Who Escaped From U. S. Prison Here Now Faces Deportation

Dave Lightner, who made a sensational escape from the American jail here after he had been arrested upon arrival from Portland, Oregon, on charges of dealing in narcotics and jumping bail bonds in the United States, may escape imprisonment by a technicality, according to information carried in the Portland Oregonian, copies of which were received in Shanghai in the last mail.

Lightner, according to the Portland newspaper, may be deported to either Canada or Rumania, as Immigration Inspection Bonham of Portland contends that he entered the United States as a stowaway and was not, therefore, legally in the United States.

Immigration authorities are conducting an investigation into the facts and are also seeking to determine whether he is subject to deportation to Canada or Rumania.

United States Marshal Thurston E. Porter is understood to have written the Portland authorities to the effect that Lightner was not a stowaway when he landed in China but a prisoner, having been arrested on board the ship on wireless orders from Shanghai after Vice-Consul Paul M. Gross, who was a passenger on the West Faralon, had recognised him. While in Shanghai Lightner said he had been born in Canada.

Russian Refugees To Open Store

Russian refugees in Shanghai will open a co-operative shop in the near future to sell food to refugees at cost prices as the result of a decision reached at a meeting of refugees in the Russian Consulate on last Saturday.

The meeting was attended by over 100 refugees and was presided over by M. Andrushkevich, former head of the National Assembly at Vladivostok. A decision to open the co-operative store in the Broadway district was reached and a committee consisting of M. Andrushkevich, Col. Ussenko and three others was named to complete arrangements.

Community Church Ladies To Prepare Food; Only 150 Covers Will Be Laid

A real old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner will be served by the November Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary of Community Church, at the Navy Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, November 27th, at 7 o'clock, instead of on Thanksgiving Day.

The menu promises home-roasted turkeys, cranberry sauce, plum pudding, and the other usual accompaniments of an all-American style Thanksgiving dinner that take thoughts back to the Pilgrim Fathers and the cold waves beating on the rocky New England shore.

Toasts and good music will follow the dinner. The number of covers is limited to 150 and no tickets will be sold after this limit is reached. The price per ticket is $1.50.

Tickets may be secured Sunday at the Community Church services, both morning and evening; and until Wednesday, the 22nd, from Mrs. E. E. Barsett, 138 Dixwell Road or from Mrs. R. L. Creighton, 547 Avenue Joffre.

SENSATIONAL SUGGESTION DISCREDITED BY BRITISH

Italian Plan To Aid The Turk Impossible, Is Opinion

WAIT ON PARLEY

Preliminary Meeting Of Curzon And Poincare May Be Held

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 14.—Authoritative British circles do not attach credence to the sensational suggestion in an Italian semi-official message from Constantinople that, if Angora abstained from rash acts and no serious incidents occurred, the Allies would be ready to agree to Mustapha Kemal's request for the withdrawal of the Allied troops.

It is pointed out that the Allied High Commissioners are not authorised to make any such promise while the Mudania Convention clearly stipulates that Constantinople shall not be evacuated until a definite peace treaty has been concluded.

London, Nov. 14.—British, French and Italian consultations preliminary to the Lausanne Conference are now being undertaken.

The British Government is today communicating its views on the Near East to Paris and Rome, after which the Allies will discuss their views diplomatically.

If the discussions are satisfactory Earl Curzon will go to Paris at the end of the week to interview M. Poincare. Then M. Poincare and Earl Curzon will probably proceed to Lausanne to interview Signor Mussolini. Earl Curzon insists that he will not agree to the opening of the Conference until the Allies have agreed on a program.

The British Government has received the views of M. Poincare who agrees on the supreme necessity of a united Allied front. He says that he is not aware of the existence of an Anglo-French crisis.

OTHER NATIONS ASKED

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Nov. 14.—The Petit Parisien states that Spain, Sweden and Denmark have been asked to participate in the Lausanne Conference and that France has agreed that their delegates shall be heard when economic and financial interests are being discussed.

ISMID GOES TO PARIS

(French Wireless)

Paris, November 14.—The Turkish Ambassador in Paris has arrived at Lausanne. After conferring with him Ismet Pasha decided to leave for Paris, which he did this morning, accompanied by Ferid Bey. He will arrive in Paris tomorrow morning.

The Italian delegation to the Lausanne Conference will comprise; in addition to Marquis Garroni and Signor Montagna, Signor Lago, Director-General of Political Affairs in Europe and the Levant in the Foreign Office, who will be an assistant delegate, and Signor Ariotta, Counsellor of the Italian Embassy at Constantinople, who will be secretary to the delegation.

The British newspapers emphasise that the French assurances with regard to the maintenance of the Mudania Agreement have been well received in London.

The British memorandum, explaining the Government's views on the questions which must be settled with the Turks, is expected in Paris today.

Lord Hardinge was today received by M. Poincare.

The Temps, affirming the desire of the French Government to maintain an understanding with the British Government, says:

"If the British public ask why conversations have not yet been undertaken, it is a question that they must ask the British Government."

RUMBOLD ALSO TO GO

(Reuter's Service)

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—Sir Horace Rumbold, the British High Commissioner, will go to Lausanne tomorrow with the Italian High Commissioner, Marquis Garroni, who is the principal Italian delegate, or

Associated Press Head Entertained In Peking

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 12.—Mr. Noyes, President of the Associated Press, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Messrs. Yang Tuen-chi, Wu Nan-ju and Fen Cuung-jui on behalf of the Information Bureau of the Cabinet Office, at the Grand Hotel des Wagons-Lits last Friday evening, at which a large number of Chinese and foreign representatives of the Press were also present. Mr. Yang, who presided, in an interesting and eloquent speech of welcome said:

"Mr. Noyes and gentlemen, it is my pleasant duty on behalf of the Information Bureau to extend a cordial welcome to Mr. Noyes tonight. To the foreign journalists here Mr. Noyes needs no introduction, as they are all familiar with his name and well acquainted with his work with the Associated Press. But believing that this may not be so true with our Chinese journalists, and at the risk of trying the patience of our foreign friends I would like to say a few words about Mr. Noyes and the kind of work he is doing.

ALSO OWNS NEWSPAPER

"For twenty-five years, President of the Associated Press, Mr. Noyes is also publisher of the Washington Evening Star. The Associated Press is one of the largest news gathering organisation in the world, having a membership of over 1,300 newspapers scattered over every part of the United States. It occupies the same position in America as Reuter's News Agency does in the United Kingdom, though I understand they are quite different so far as organisation goes.

"The Washington Evening Star, as its name implies, is an evening newspaper published in the Capital of the United States, (Washington, D. C.). It has the largest circulation of all the papers in that city, issuing a net edition of 90,000 copies a day.

"During the late Washington Conference the Associated Press was accessible to the Delegations of all countries represented there as a means of disseminating their respective views and opinions, and thus made possible for each nation to understand and appreciate the position of the other, which is essential to the solution of an international question. So it may be said without exaggeration that much of the success of the Washington Conference was due to the Associated Press.

CHINESE OWE MUCH

"Chinese should be particularly grateful to Mr. Noyes and the Associated Press, for that agency played a large part in influencing American public opinion in insisting that the long outstanding Shantung question between China and Japan should be solved in accordance with the aspirations of the Chinese people.

"This time last year our countrymen were looking forward eagerly for the first news from across the Pacific, concerning the opening of the Washington Conference. Here at this table is the man who was in charge of the news agency which daily sent out thousands of words to every part of the United States telling the American people of the proceedings of the Conference. We feel honored indeed in being with him here tonight.

"This is Mr. Noyes' first visit to China. Although China is a country 4,000 years old there are many things in it which may appear new and strange to him. But although China has a long history her experience of a Republican form of Government is only of eleven years. We hope that Mr. Noyes, in judging the present Chinese political situation, will consider China not as a country 4,000 years old but as a new nation born ten years ago.

SLOWLY NEARING UNITY

"It is natural that such a young nation should have many difficulties. Although the present political situation in this country is progressing favorably towards a gradual clearing up of all the misunderstandings that have existed between the North and the South, its development still falls far short of the hopes of our people.

"There are, at present, many questions awaiting solution, such as how to make a constitution suited to the needs, and the changing conditions of the country, how to reorganise our finances, which are in a very chaotic condition, and last but not least important, the disbandment of superfluous troops. All these take time to solve, and it may be that a long time will pass before we can tackle them with success.

"Our sudden change from a monarchical to a Republican form of Government in 1911 may be likened to the performance of a surgical operation on a diseased body. A period of turmoil and disorder is inevitable after the change just as bloodshedding necessarily follows a surgical operation. What we may hope is that this period of turmoil and disorder will not last long, and that the nation will soon be restored to its former vigor and stability.

FAITH IS UNSHAKEN

"In short, while we are by no means satisfied with the course of the present state of affairs, we are unshaken in our faith that out of the present chaos a new and better order will soon be evolved; and we shall strive on for the attainment of this goal, thereby contributing our share to the permanent peace of the world. We hope that the friendly Powers will give us a free opportunity and sufficient time to work out our political salvation.

"Mr Noyes comes from a country where the political conditions are stable, and where journalism attains its fullest development. I hope that Mr. Noyes will tell us something about newspaper conditions in America. I have great pleasure in asking Mr. Noyes to speak."

Mr. Noyes expressed high appreciation of the honor that had been extended to him by the Chinese Government and people and of the splendid entertainment offered that night by his hosts of the Information Bureau. He then gave a brief sketch of the constitution and working of the Associated Press, an association that bought news but had nothing to sell.

It was a cooperative association run on lines which he did not think had been attempted in any other country. Its object was to supply its members with true and impartial news uninfluenced by party or political considerations. It took no part in propaganda of any kind.

Americans were proud of their press and American pressmen were proud of their calling, which occupied a high position in the life of the nation, as it did in England and various other countries. A free and independent press was necessary in the development of a democracy. He hoped that his friends of the Chinese press would never forget that fact, and in their efforts to develop a free press in China they could count upon the assistance of their fellow craftsmen in America.

Mr. Yang's speech and the reply of Mr. Noyes were heartily applauded, Mr. Wu Nan-ju proved an able interpreter.

West China Conference Of Methodist Church Opens At Chengtu

(China Press Correspondence)

Chengtu, Szechuen, Oct. 30 (by mail).—The eighth annual session of the West China Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church (North) convened here today with Bishop Frederick T. Keeney of Foochow, Fukien, presiding. It will remain in session one week. The conference is being held in the auditorium of the Methodist Hospital for Men.

Bishop Keeney and his wife arrived in Chengtu eight days ago after a long and tiresome journey of seven weeks. At the close of the West China Conference, Bishop Keeney will return to Chungking, then go down the Yangtsze river to Kiukiang, where he will preside over the annual session of the Kiangsi Methodist Conference, which is to be held during the week commencing Sunday, November 19. Following this conference he will go on to Nanking and preside at the annual session of the Central China Conference commencing December 6.

The work of the Methodist Episcopal Church was established in Szechuen Province more than forty years ago. Dr. and Mrs. Spencer Lewis, who are still residing in Chengtu, were the Methodist pioneers in the West China field. Great growth has attended the mission work in this field and because of its isolation many of the missionaries in China fail to realise its importance.

Several important questions are expected to come up for discussion during the present session of the West China Conference. One of these has to do with the proposal to establish a women's college in connection with the West China Union University. There is no college for Chinese women west of Nanking under mission auspices.

Another question which is expected to arise concerns itself with the division of the conference into two working units. The rapid growth of the conference and the distances and time involved in travel, together with the high cost and danger of travel, has made it apparent that the conference eventually must divide if it is to continue to do effective work.

At the present time, the West China Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church covers an area of approximately 9,600 square miles and contains a population estimated at more than 12,000,000. The Methodist mission centers in Szechuen Province are Chungking, Tzechow, Suining and Chengtu.

Adele Blood Plays Leading Role Tonight In "The Gold Diggers"

There are three kinds of Gold Diggers. First the miner who, after countless years of toil, succeeds in winning a few paltry nuggets from Mother Earth's bosom; second—the visionary soldier of fortune who follows dim wraiths of buried treasure in the waste places of the world; and third the wise, very wise Broadway Chorus Girl. Jerry La Mar belongs to the third class.

Tonight at the Olympic Theater a Shanghai audience will have the exceptional opportunity of witnessing Miss Adele Blood depicting the character of a Broadway Butterfly, a scintillating dazzling butterfly whose wings are nearly singed by the footlights' glare. The fact that Jerry La Mar comes through unscathed may be attributed to her clever wit and ability to cope successfully with any situation no matter how difficult.

And yet the world today smiles cynically and calls Jerry a "Gold Digger" in the sense that she accepts all gifts yet refuses to give anything in return. Perhaps she is a "gold digger," but at the same time she is only playing the game according to rules laid down by her sisters several thousands of years ago.

History is replete with many examples. Did not Cleopatra battle with her wits for the control of half a hemisphere, Queen Dido of Carthage did rather well by herself if Mr. Virgil can be relied on. Queen Elizabeth maintained her prestige by thinking one jump ahead of her councillors and yet they are never termed "Gold Diggers" by historians.

The theme of Avery Hopwood's three act farce although amusing in the extreme delivers several sharp barbs at our present smug system of ethics. Incidentally, Miss Blood is the star that made "Everywoman" famous.

baggage. After he had seen the lady off Tsang engaged two rickshas and drove madly to the Poo Tseng lodging house. Dashing to his room he unpacked the boxes, made a hasty selection and paid a brief visit to an adjacent pawnshop. Then he repacked and made delivery of the boxes. Shortly thereafter, in some weird roundabout fashion, Mr. Mo heard of these pernicious happenings to his wife's belongings. He assured himself that personally he didn't care a hang whether his erstwhile helpmeet's embroidered frippery ever reached her or not, but he couldn't help regarding Tsang's action as a pretty low-down kind of a trick. And in this frame of mind he went over to Tsang's boarding house and paid that gentleman a memorable visit.

The Mos, husband and wife, necessarily met in the Mixed Court room in course of giving testimony and while Tsang was drawing his three months' sequestration the Chinese attaches began laying bets as to a reconciliation in the Mo family.

Thus does the impish joss of love upset the less impulsive dispositions of the joss of general providence.

THE UNPLANTED SEED

Until a seed is planted in the earth, watered, watched over, caused to grow—it has no power of multiplication.

Money of itself is only so much metal. Hoarded and hidden away it is but an inert lump, of no productive value to its owner. But invested by him in safe securities it will nearly double itself in 10 years, quadruple itself in 20 years and amount to nearly eight times its original figure in 30 years.

EXHIBITION OF WOOD CUTS AT B.W.A. ROOMS

Works Of Elizabeth Kendall On View For Public At 9 Kiukiang Road

One of the important events of the week is the exhibition of woodcuts a the B. W. A. Headquarters, 9 Kiukiang Road of Oriental types done by Miss Elizabeth Kendall, an English artist who has spent the past several years in Japan, Korea and China, studying the people and their customs, with an eye to portraying them for the Western world. Not content with merely drawing them, Miss Kendall has succumbed to the charm of the woodblock and these prints form an interesting library of character studies.

Miss Kendall's work is widely known, having been included in several of the best known exhibitions in London and America as well as being exhibited in one man shows in Canada, Japan and China. In Canada the success of the exhibition was so great that a set was acquired by the National Gallery of Canada, distinct honor for any artist. These prints have a decided decorative quality, and are fine in color. Unlike most work of art, they are within the reach of everyone, as the prices are extremely moderate.

The exhibition is open from 10 o'clock this morning to 4:30 this afternoon and from 10 to 7 on Friday and Saturday, this giving the children an excellent opportunity to see such good examples of this phase of work. While the exhibition is to be held at the B. W. A. headquarters it is in no sense restricted to the members of the Association, but is open to the general public during the hours named.

HOW TO "GROW" A NEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "bustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant; we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives, this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now universally obtainable, gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and its clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

B.A.T. LOCK OUT STRIKERS OF TWO POOTUNG PLANTS

Men Fail To Resume Work As Ultimatum Expires

Strikers is the two British Cigarette Company factories in Pootung disregarded the ultimatum of the company and refused to return to work yesterday morning. Under the ultimatum, which was a concession in some of the demands made by the workers, but refused a general increase in pay, the strikers will be locked out as a result of their refusal to return and new employees will be hired in their places.

The company took quick and definite action with the employees at the branch factory at 10 Dixwell Road. The 138 women working in the branch factory have been paid 4½ cents per thousand cigarettes and struck work when their demands for 5 cents per thousand were refused. They returned to work yesterday noon and were informed that their wages had been reduced to 4 cents per thousand. The women immediately struck again and were paid off by the company.

The tobacco workers' strike began two weeks ago in sympathy with the strike of mill hands at the Nikko, Pootung, cotton mills. The mill employes are also still on strike, demanding that their headquarters be opened, that two interpreters who are alleged to have squeezed women employes, be dismissed, and that the mills contribute toward the upkeep of the workers' free school and hospital.

TRAVELERS' AID WORKERS WILL HELP GIRLS HERE

Moral Welfare Committee Takes Action; Woman's Club Hears Of Plans

Members of the Moral Welfare Committee will meet shortly to make a survey of the moral conditions of the Shanghai Settlement, according to Dr. Frank Rawlinson.

In an address delivered before the Social Service Department of the American Woman's Club yesterday morning, Dr. Rawlinson told of receiving voluntary information as to objectionable features in the life of the Settlement which should be investigated. He stated that a feature of the program of the Moral Welfare Committee for the coming year would be the study of the moral life of the Settlement and the taking of steps to remedy unsavory conditions.

Under the direcion of the Committee a Christian Travelers' Aid will be launched in Shanghai. Especially trained men and women will meet trains, river boats and ocean liners arriving here for the purpose of offering their assisting to any girls, women or men who may need help.

According to Dr. Rawlinson there is a growing need on the part of traveling Chinese girls and women for assistance.

"The American and British women arriving here are usually met by friends or business associates or have traveled sufficiently to know how to make their way to a hotel," said Dr. Rawlinson.

"Many Russian girls, however, often need the help of the Travelers' Aid as do the Chinese women who come here from the country and outports. They are confused by the life of a strange city. We will attempt to assist them."

Another ambition of the Welfare Committee this year is the opening of a Mixed Court Home where Chinese prostitutes, when dismissed from the Mixed Court, will be protected and every effort will be made to help them find honest employment.

Dr. Rawlinson told the club women that the Mixed Court and police officials are sympathetic and that the Committee is hoping that such a home may be opened.

The women of the Social Service Department were keenly interested in Dr. Rawlinson's talk and will co-operate with the Moral Welfare Committee.

Lloyd's Greatest Comedy Soon To Be Shown Here

Harold Lloyd, he of the tortoise shell rimmed specs, and incidentally one of the best comedians on the American screen, will be seen here soon in a new release entitled "Grandma's Boy" which critics unite in acclaiming as the most excruciatingly funny picture ever filmed. The film which is the first five reel feature ever produced by Hal Roach with Harold Lloyd in the stellar role made its debut at the Strand Theater in New York on Labor Day.

Every Lloyd picture is better than the last but it is certain that Grandma's Boy so far outstrips all his earlier efforts in funmaking that there is no comparison. Among other features there is an honest to goodness drag out and knock down fight lasting for nearly five minutes actual running time which never drags for an instant. And the conclusion, with Lloyd playing the artistic caveman and walking across a brook on slippery stepping stones with the fair, very fair heroine clutched in his embrace ds to put it mildly side-plitting.

The picture is released through Patho Orient, Ltd.

Stubborn Case of Boils & Pimples

"Can honestly say I am quite cured"

Our portrait is of Mr. W. BRIDAL, 27, Strand Street, Newtown, Mountain Ash, South Wales, Great Britain, who writes:

"It gives me great pleasure in telling you about the remarkable cure I found in Clarke's Blood Mixture for boils and pimples. After having suffered from time to time from both, and trying all kinds of so-called remedies, and being under doctor's treatment, I thought of Clarke's Blood Mixture, having tried it years ago with success for a similar complaint. After taking one bottle it seemed to drive them out, and after the second bottle I found a decided improvement, and continuing with your Mixture I can honestly say I am quite cured."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. ...HAI GOLFERS TAKE ... OF TWO POINTS IN ...ATCHES WITH MANILA

...Ba...ett And Rev. ...Roberts Equal Course Record

Playing as fine a brand of team golf as one would care to look at, the representatives of the Shanghai Golf Club achieved a two point lead yesterday in the singles matches with the players from the Manila Golf Club who are in Shanghai for a two days series. The point score at the end of yesterday's play was 4 to 2 in favor of the homesters, four of the six matches having resulted in victories for the local men. Today the same teams will continue the series at the Kiangwan course, playing four ball matches.

The Manila men, while forced to take the short end of the first day's score, have no reason to feel discouraged, since in achieving their first day's lead no less than two of the Shanghai players equalled the course record of 73, while another, Mr. Ferrier, was but a stroke behind in the morning, and only two strokes in arrears in the afternoon. The competitions were in the form of match play, which means that medal rounds had no bearing on the scores. Two rounds of 73 and two more of 74 and 75 show, however, that the Shanghai men were in a scoring mood that would have been hard to overcome.

The two 73 scores were made by Rev. W. P. Roberts and Captain Barrett, while Mr. Ferrier, the club champion, turned in a 74 for his morning effort and came back in the afternoon with a 75. Both Mr. Ferrier and Captain Barrett shot the first nine holes in 34, and Rev. Roberts, had he been a bit luckier on the short third, where he took a 5, and on the fifth, where he went one over Bogey for a 6, would have equalled or surpassed that record, for on both of the short holes of the outward journey he had 2's.

Captain Barrett's card for the afternoon round was as follows:

Out	4	5	4	4	5	3	2	4	3	—34
In	4	3	4	5	5	3	4	4	7	—39—73

Rev. Roberts' card for the morning round, in which he, too, scored a 73, was as follows:

Out	4	5	5	4	6	2	4	4	2	—36
In	4	3	4	5	6	3	4	3	5	—37—73

Mr. Ferrier's two fine cards, a 74 for the morning round and a 75 for the afternoon, were respectively as follows:

Out	4	4	4	3	5	3	4	4	3	—34
In	4	4	5	5	6	3	4	3	6	—40—74
Out	4	5	4	4	5	3	3	5	4	—37
In	4	3	4	5	5	3	3	5	5	—38—75

Mr. Mason, of the Manila team, who played with Mr. Ferrier, turned in a pair of 83's, his failure to break the eighties being due in part to unfamiliarity with the greens, which by the way were a source of constant trouble to all the visiting players. The greens on their home course are much faster than the ones at Kiangwan. The Manila men offered no excuses on this or any other account, however, taking their missed putts with the utmost good grace. Mr. Mason's cards follow:

Out	3	5	4	4	6	3	5	5	7	—39
In	5	5	4	6	7	3	4	3	7	—44—83
Out	5	6	5	4	6	3	3	5	3	—40
In	5	3	5	6	5	3	6	4	5	—43—83

The closest of the day's matches was the one between Mr. Gibbs, of the visiting team, and Mr. Beath, of Shanghai, this contest going to the thirty-seventh green for a decision, where the visiting player got a 5 against Mr. Beath's 6, thus winning that match for Manila. On the extra hole both had good drives but the high cross wind caught Mr. Beath's second, carrying it out of bounds. He was nicely on the green with his third but was short on his approach putt, missing a ten footer for a five. Mr. Gibbs was short of the green with his second, pitched to the edge and was down in two putts. Mr. Gibbs' morning and afternoon cards, respectively, follow:

Out	5	6	4	4	6	3	4	5	3	—40
In	4	3	4	6	6	3	5	3	6	—40—80
Out	5	4	4	4	5	3	4	5	4	—38
In	5	3	5	6	6	4	5	4	5	—43—81

Mr. Beath, who was unfortunate on the second and fourth holes of his morning round, taking 7's on each, had a medal score of 81 for his first round. In the afternoon he was more consistent, finishing with a 78. His cards for the morning and afternoon rounds follow:

Out	4	7	5	5	7	3	3	6	4	—44
In	4	3	3	4	6	4	4	4	5	—37—81
Out	4	5	4	4	6	3	3	5	3	—37
In	5	3	4	5	5	4	5	4	6	—41—78

In the match between Mr. Crewe-Read and Mr. Manderfeld the play was streaky, both having more 6's than were good for them, although Mr. Crewe-Read snatched a fine 2 for himself on the ninth going out in the morning. His scores for the two rounds follow:

Out	6	5	4	5	7	3	4	5	2	—41
In	4	4	6	5	6	4	5	3	5	—42—83
Out	5	5	5	5	5	4	5	6	3	—43
In	4	3	4	6	5	4	5	4	6	—41—84

Mr. Manderfeld's scores, which were marred by three 7's and a brace of 8's, were as follows:

Out	5	5	5	5	6	5	4	5	3	—43
In	6	4	5	5	8	3	5	5	7	—48—91
Out	6	7	4	4	7	3	4	5	4	—44
In	5	4	4	8	5	3	6	4	6	—45—89

Mr. Grieve and Rev. Roberts did not play the bye holes, as did the others. Mr. Grieve's score for the morning round, however, was as follows:

Out	6	7	4	4	6	5	5	6	3	—46
In	5	5	6	5	6	5	7	3	6	—48—94

Mr. Nell, who was Captain Barrett's opponent, had two fairly good cards, and except for the fact that Captain Barrett was travelling like a house afire in his afternoon round might have had a victory for his credit after the day's play, as he was two up at the end of the first 18 holes. His cards follow:

Out	5	6	4	4	5	3	3	5	4	—39
In	4	5	4	5	7	3	5	3	6	—42—81
Out	5	5	5	4	6	3	4	5	3	—40
In	5	5	4	5	5	4	5	5	5	—43—83

Captain Barrett's morning card, for an 86, was as follows:

Out	6	6	5	4	7	3	4	5	4	—44
In	3	4	5	5	6	3	6	4	5	—42—86

Cards for the match between Mr. Gray and Mr. Todd were not turned in, those players contenting themselves merely with announcing the result of their match.

A tabulation of the results, with the point standing, follows:

Manila		Shanghai
Mason	0	Ferrier	1
Grieve	0	Roberts	1
Gibbs	1	Beath	0
Nell	0	Barrett	1
Todd	1	Gray	0
Manderfeld	0	Crewe-Read	1

Tomorrow evening, at the Shanghai club, the Shanghai Golf club will be host at dinner to the visiting players.

THE INTERPORT MEETING

(An Editorial from The Hongkong Telegraph)

We in Hongkong have just had the opportunity of proving the strong link of abiding friendship which cements the two English-speaking nations in a common bond of interests. Not long ago there was the very enjoyable Interport polo contest between a local team and one representing Manila, and only this week there has been the happy meeting between British and American golfers, first on the course at Fanling and later at the very fraternal banquet given by the Royal Hongkong Golf Club. As one of the American visitors said, they were given a right royal welcome, and we feel sure they will carry away with them the most happy impressions of Hongkong and of British hospitality. Sportsmen both here and in Manila will look forward eagerly to further Interport matches, which might also, we suggest, include a representative lawn tennis contest. As in the field of battle a few years ago, so in the field of sport, can be carried on the best traditions of our friendship with our American cousins.

The Shanghai players are figuring on a cleanup in the South.

Several Changes Made In Basketball Rules; 'Goal Zone' Is Innovation

Several changes have been made in the 1922-1923 basketball rules, copies of which have been received by C. H. McCloy of the National Southeastern University, who with Bob Clack of the Paotingfu Young Men's Christian Association, represent the Rules Committee in China.

The new rules have been translated into Chinese and will go to press in English and Chinese in a few days.

A number of important changes have been made. In order to bring them to the attention of the users of these rules, the committee have thought it wise to list them briefly in non-technical language.

1. Rule I, Sections 4, 5. Seventeen feet from each end line, a line has been drawn across the court, parellel to the end line. This falls on the old free-throw line. The area within the side-lines and the end lines and this new line (called the goal zone line") is called the "goal zone." A player is held to be inside this zone if any part of his body is touching the line or the floor or ground inside. If a player who is inside his "own goal zone"—namely, the zone containing the goal for which his team is throwing—be fouled by a player of the opposite side, two throws are awarded, though one personal foul is charged against the man fouling. For fouls made on players standing outside of their "own goal zone," only one throw is awarded, regardless of whether or not he may be in the act of throwing for goal. Rule XV, Section 8.

2. Rule V, Section 3. A substitute going into the game may not communicate with his own players except through the referee until after the game has again started. To disobey gives a free throw.

3. The Referee is obliged to ask the advice of the Umpire on out of bounds decisions of which he is not sure. Rule VI, Section 10.

4. Timer's and Scorer's signals must be different from those of each other and of the other officials. Rule VI, Section 13.

5. Rule VII, Section 7. The ball is not dead out of bounds, nor after illegal throw for basket.

6. Rule VII, Section 8. The definition of running with the ball is slightly modified. Upon jumping with a pass or shot at basket, the ball must leave the hands as the player leaves the ground, not just before he alights again, as in the old rules.

7. Rule VIII, Section 1. The game for school boys must be shorter.

8. Rule VIII, Section 5. In jumping at center, or after held ball, both jumpers must keep not only the position of the hand behind back and in contact with it, but also keep their relative positions until one or both taps the ball. Thus one man running out and letting the other jump would be an illegal jump. This is a violation and penalised by giving to other team out of bounds.

9. Rule XI, Sections 1, 2. Time may not be taken out except when ball is in possession of own team, or ball is dead, even for injury to player. Thus, as out of bounds is not dead ball, the ball may not be stopped when opponents have it out of bounds. This rule will do away with much unsportsmanlike conduct. Two minutes may be taken to replace an injured man instead of one, as before.

10. If ball is out of bounds when time out is called, it is jump ball, not out of bounds on resuming play. If a violation or foul, the game begins with the administeration of the penalty. Rule XI, Section 3.

11. Rule XII, Section 8. If held ball in any part of the free throw lane (including circle), the ball is jumped for at the free throw line.

12. Rule XIV, Sections 8, 9, 10, 11. Running with the ball, kicking the ball, striking ball with fist, not making honest attempt to cage ball on free throw, and double dribble has been removed from the list of fouls and put in with the violations. The penalty is to give the ball to the opponents at the nearest point out of bounds on the side-line, never at the end-line. If the ball be interfered with while on the edge of the goal (by opponents) the goal shall count whether made or not.

The questions and answers of the rules have been declared officially a part of the rules.

PRINCESS MARY IS INTERESTED IN HORSE RACING

Will Aid Prince Of Wales And Husband In Direction Of Royal Stables

Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles, who since their marriage have given every indication that racing is one of their greatest interests, are likely soon to assume nominal charge of the King's stable, although there is no intention on the part of His Majesty to relinquish titular control of his horses, according to a London dispatch.

The King, who never has been an extreme enthusiast in the sport of kings, has kept the royal stud intact because of a direct request of King Edward, but the academic interest he has displayed has not been conducive to many successes for the royal colors.

This Fall the King intends to weed out his racers, with the assistance of Lord Lascelles, Princess Mary and the Prince of Wales, and make some purchases of yearlings to improve the string.

Of this advisory committee Viscount Lascelles has the most knowledge of horse flesh, but Princess Mary probably is fully as conversant on their fine points as the Prince of Wales, and since her marriage she has had many opportunities of improving her theories at the many meetings which she and her husband have attended.

ALL-CEYLON GETS DRAW IN GAME WITH M.C.C. XI

English Cricket Team Plays At Colombo; Maclaren Not In

The English cricket team which is touring Australasia played a one-innings match against an all-Ceylon team when passing through Colombo.

Heavy rain prevented the commencement of play until after one o'clock in the afternoon. Both sides were unable to field some of their best men, one of the absentees from the M.C.C. eleven being the captain, A. C. Maclaren.

Ceylon won the toss and went in first, knocking up 147 for the loss of five wickets, when the innings was declared closed. E. Kelaart, with 59 not out, was their best performer with the bat.

The M.C.C. replied with 100 for four wickets, when stumps were drawn. C. H. Titchmarsh, with 41, was the top scorer on the English side.

In both innings the bowling honors were somewhat evenly shared. C. H. Gibson, with two for 26, was the best trundler for the M.C.C.

RICE AND BROWN DOUBLES CHAMPS AT YOKOHAMA

In a brilliant, smashing display of tennis, Rice and P. B. Brown defeated Shepard and Gordon Bell in the finals of the championship doubles at the Yokohama C. & A. C. courts. The scores were 7-5, 6-2, 12-10, and the gallery was continually on edge as the tide of victory swayed first toward one, then to the other.

Every game of each set was bitterly fought with the culmination coming in the third set after a terrific struggle. Brown and Rice with their experience proved virtually unbeatable foemen for Bell and Shepard, who nevertheless fought to the very last serve. Brown made many excellent returns while Bell excelled in smashing. Shepard played with all his old time steadiness and coolness and Rice, for his part, put up one of the best exhibitions of the year.

In the first set which went to Rice and Brown, 7-5, the final winners took the first two games, and Bell and Shepard tied the count at two-all. Brown and Rice won the next games but Shepard and Bell rallied and won three straight, making the count 5 and 4 in their favor. Brown and Rice then took the next three in what was probably the crucial set of the game, even if it was the first one.

Brown and Rice swept easily in the second set, but the third set gave the gallery something to talk about. Brown and Rice started off by winning two and Shepard and Brown came back tieing the score at two-all. Brown and Rice made the count three and two, but Shepard and Bell, displaying great fighting spirit, annexed three straight thus making the set stand five to four. The games then were five-all and went to 10-all until Brown and Rice by a great final rally won the title.

IT is in times of economic and political uncertainty such as the world is passing through today that men feel most of all the need of something sound and secure, something upon which they can rely at all times. Particularly does the man with dependents feel the insecurity and helplessness of his position in times like these.

ONE firm and secure institution, the importance and soundness of which is being appreciated in increasing measure year after year, is life insurance. A life insurance policy with a strong American company, under American insurance laws, represents absolute financial certainty. It is a standby for the present and a safeguard for the future.

League Of Nations Praised For Anti-Opium Work

(Reuter's Public Service)

Peking, Nov. 12.—The following speech by Viscount Cheimsford on "Traffic in Opium," at the 10th plenary meeting of the League of Nations, on September 18, 1922, is circulated by the International Anti-Opium Association, Peking:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen, when some weeks ago I accepted the invitation of the Government of India to come here as the first Delegate for India I did so because I was ready and willing to serve India in any capacity in which I might be useful; but I am bound frankly to confess that I came here a profound sceptic as to the value and utility of the League of Nations.

"A fortnight's acquaintance, however, with the working of the Assembly and of the committees has made me hope that my scepticism was unwarranted. I found in the first place an atmosphere of general goodwill and desire to co-operate, which it would be almost impossible to conceive of unless one were living actually in the middle of it, and I believe it would be almost equally difficult to convey to those outside the League what that atmosphere of good will and co-operation is.

EMINENTLY PRACTICAL

"I found in the second place the eminently practical handling of the subjects dealt with in the assembly and in the committees, a handling that gave the lie to the insinuations often made outside, that the League of Nations lives and moves and has its being in an atmosphere of unpractical idealism.

"In the third place I found, at least I hope I have found, a sincere determination on the part of the countries that are members of the League to accept the resolutions of the League and to carry them out effectively and sincerely. These, it seems to me, are the three conditions precedent to success in the work of the League.

"Now let me apply these conditions, as an acid test, to the work of the League in connection with abuses of the drug traffic. May I remind you that this subject of the traffic in opium and noxious drugs is one of those which have been committed to the special charge of the League by Article 23 of the Covenant.

"As to goodwill, I am sure that on this point we are all agreed—we who are delegates to this Assembly—that these abuses must cease. Each one of us has had it brought home to him what the evils and the horrors of the system are, and scarcely a day passes without some miserable story being disclosed in the columns of our press.

SANE AND SOBER METHOD

"Coming to the second point, the practical handling of this question I am sure that those who are interested in this subject will have admired the sane and sober manner in which the Advisory Committee on opium has discussed this question and the very practical methods they have advised for adoption by us with reference to it.

"It is only when I come to the third condition precedent, namely, the sincere determination of the countries that are members of the League to carry out the resolutions of the League that I must confess to some disappointment.

"Let us take, in the first place, the Hague Convention, which is the key of the whole situation. There are still many—too many—countries that have not adhered to this Convention. I was delighted to hear in the report that the delegates from Switzerland announced that his Government and his Federal Council were taking this matter into grave consideration.

PERSIA GIVEN ADVICE

"I was also delighted to hear the delegate from Persia say in the Committee that he had advised his Government to adhere to this Convention. I am sure that we shall all be delighted if by next year we find that this Persian Government has adopted the advice given to them by their delegation.

"The corollary to The Hague Convention consists of that system of importation certificates, devised by the Advisory Committee. The system was unanimously approved by this assembly last year but only one half, I believe, of the States that are Members of this League have signed that agreement, and even fewer have said they were prepared to carry out its provisions, and this after the solemn approval by their delegate in this Assembly of the proposals put before the Assembly last year.

"I know that Governments are busy, that Governments sometimes do not understand, but surely it is our duty as delegates to jog the memories of our Governments and to endeavor to explain where they do not understand. And behind the delegates here is the admirable Secretariat of this League, which is always ready to give the fullest information when it is asked for.

ESSENCE OF CAMPAIGN

"Co-operation, after all, is the essence of the campaign against this traffic, and I sincerely hope that before the meeting of the next Assembly the list of non-adherent States in these two matters will be greatly diminished if not entirely wiped out.

"But let us pass on. There is a very important extension proposed of the certificate system. Delegates will find the proposal in the report. The suggestion originated with Professor Gilbert Murray, representative of South Africa. I think the Assembly will judge of the very great importance of this proposal when I tell them it will affect two-thirds of the available world supply to non-producing countries.

"Therefore, I look with very great hope to good results from this extension of the import certificate system; and I trust that if the Council agrees to it there will be no delay over the adherence of the States to this and the other portion of the import certificate system. There is only one other matter to which I would refer, and that is with reference to the statistics required regarding dangerous drugs.

MUST HAVE STATISTICS

"The Advisory Committee on opium have informed us that they really cannot advise methods for control of this difficult traffic until they are supplied with adequate and accurate statistics from the various countries on questions of manufacture, import, export, distribution and consumption.

"And I must remind this Assembly that the Council of the League have already asked for this information from the various countries that are members of the League, but that up till now only four countries have made the answer requested. They are Britain, Canada, France and Italy.

"So it comes about that here we are in the Assembly again asking the countries that have sent us here to provide information without which the Advisory Committee says it cannot properly advise on the control of this terrible traffic.

NO FACT SUPERFLUOUS

"I referred at the outset to three conditions precedent to the success of the work of the League of Nations. They may have appeared self-evident, but can it be said, on the facts I have put before the Assembly this morning, that it has been superfluous to refer to them?

"I have applied to this traffic the test of these conditions. Take, for instance, the Hague Convention, the Import Certificate System and the statistics asked for. In each of these only a fraction of the nations that have sent us here have agreed to what we have asked them to agree to, or have furnished us with the information we have asked for.

"Until you can get the co-operation of all the countries that are members of this League, which is the essence of the situation, you will not be able to deal with this terrible traffic. With it, I am confident, we shall have success."

Obituary

MR. FRANK ROBERT KING

Funeral services for the late Frank Robert King, of the Texas Oil Company lubricating oil division, will be held at the Bubbling Well Cemetery this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock when the full Scottish Rite ceremony will be read by the Shanghai Chapter of Rose Croix.

Mr. King was the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. King of Bremerton, Washington, and is survived in Shanghai by his wife, Edith W. King.

Deceased passed away following a severe attack of typhoid fever with which he was stricken in August. He rallied from the disease for a time but it so sapped his vitality that he was unable to fully recover, suffered a relapse, and died Monday night at the General Hospital.

Mr. King was an officer in the United States Navy for several years and during the war distinguished himself while on special technical duty in New York. He was with the Standard Oil Company of New York for six months before joining the Texas Oil Company.

MR. O. F. SMITH

Mr. O. F. Smith, factory superintendent for the Tobacco Products Corporation, died at the General Hospital yesterday after a short illness.

He had been a resident of Shanghai for the past two years, coming here from his home, Raleigh, North Carolina. He is survived by his widow and two children, both of whom are now in school at Tsingtao.

Funeral services will be held under the auspices of the Masons at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon with burial in Bubbling Well cemetery.

MR. H. T. RICHARDSON

News has been received in Hongkong of the death of Mr Hedley Thomas Richardson, who was Marine Superintendent of the C. P. R. in Hongkong from 1901 to 1917, when he left for Glasgow. He supervised the building of the Empress of Canada and other C. P. R. ships on completion of which he retired on pension in July of this year. Mr. Richardson, who was 64 years of age, died at Reading on Oct. 12.

He had a long career in the service of the C. P. R., extending over 33 years. Twenty-eight years ago he was second engineer on the Empress of Japan and shortly afterwards he rose to the rank of Chief Engineer on the Empress of India. He left this post to relieve Capt. Tillett as Marine Superintendent in Hongkong. Mr. Richardson's eldest son is one of the junior engineers on the Empress of Canada. He also leaves a widow, another son and a married daughter.

Mr. Richardson made many friends in Hongkong, who will keenly regret the passing of a genial old soul and an engineer of great capability. He was a popular figure at the Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders. What, if memory serves, was his last lecture in the Institute, was an interesting explanation of steam turbines.

MR. J. Y. V. VERNON

The death of Mr. J. Y. V. Vernon occurred on November 4, in a nursing home at Varese, Italy.

The late Mr. Vernon was formerly a well-known figure in Hongkong, being a partner in the firm of Vernon and Smyth, share and general brokers, formerly Chater and Vernon. The deceased gentleman spent some thirty years of his life in Hongkong. He retired in 1910 and went to live on the Continent, chiefly in the South of France.

Mr. Vernon was 71 years of age when the end came. He has a widow still living and his daughter is Mrs. H. W. Bird. Two sons were killed during the war. Much sympathy will be felt for his relatives in their bereavement.

MR. H. G. OWENS

Mr. H. G. Owens, of Butterfield and Swire, died at the Queen Victoria Hospital early yesterday morning. Mr. Owens returned from a business trip to Newchwang about two weeks ago suffering from Lymphatic Leucaemia. He was immediately sent to hospital, but his chance of recovery was regarded hopeless and his death arrived sooner than was expected, says the North China Star of Monday.

Arriving in Shanghai in April 1920, Mr. Owens was sent to Harbin in November, and was transferred to Tientsin in July, 1921. He served throughout the War going to France in 1914 with the Queen's Westminster Rifles, and joining the Legion of Frontiersmen in December, 1915. After taking part in the East African campaign he was invalided home with malaria, and transferred to the Royal Fusiliers and at the Armistice was in a Cadet Battalion awaiting a commission in the King's Royal Rifles.

Mr. Owens was extremely popular, and his death leaves a gap in Tientsin both in business and social circles that will be difficult to fill.

November, 15, 1922

Spot bar silver was down 1-16d and forward 3-16d in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 65¼ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 447¼. The only changes in our official quotations here today were a drop in the Yen rate to 68¼, in the Franc rate to 1070 and in the Rupee rate to 239½. Our market here opened easy and became quite weak during the course of the morning. At the opening a small business in Sterling was done at 3-2 9-16 for November-December delivery and in Gold Dollars at 72 for January delivery. However, speculators became strong buyers at these rates and the market quickly eased off until at the close there were no sellers of Sterling at better than 3-2¾ for any delivery and of Gold Dollars at 71⅝ November, 71½ December and 71⅝ for forward. There were sellers of Yen at the close at 67¾ for January delivery and buyers at 67⅝. Banks were quoting 3-3 for Sterling bills, 73 to Gold Dollar bills and 1100 for Franc bills. The Continent sold silver in London yesterday and China and Indian Bazaars both bought and sold. The market is reported to have closed steady. New York report their market as easy with sellers at the official rate and no buyers.

a hard road to hoe, and there was a harder one perhaps in the future than in the past—those two things were essential, a sense of tradition and a sense of sympathy with the people amongst whom they dwelt. He felt certain that equipped with these virtues and equalities the firm would continue to succeed in the future as it had succeeded in the past and help on British tradition out here.

Closing, the Consul-General said: Gentlemen, I ask you to see that your glasses are charged and drink to the health of the firm. Ladies and gentlemen, prosperity to Ewo.

MR. JOHNSTONE SPEAKS

Following the address of Mr. Barton, Mr. Johnstone spoke as follows:

"Mr. Barton, ladies and gentlemen—When I left China last year I did not expect to be back again so soon, nor did I anticipate having to assist in the opening of this building. It gives me very great pleasure however to occupy the position I do today for many reasons and two in particular. The first because I take full credit to myself for the fact that this building now adorns The Bund—not that I architected it—but because I turned down the plans prepared in London at considerable expense for a building which in my opinion would neither have looked so well nor been as suitable as this one.

LAUDS ARCHITECTS

"Local talent is responsible for this office and I take an early opportunity for congratulating Messrs. Stewardson and Spence on the erection of a building which I think you will all agree with me is a credit to them and to the Shanghai Bund.

"The second reason why I am glad to be here today is because I think that for sentimental reasons—if for no other—I am the best fitted of all the recent partners in the firm to play a leading part in this opening. An explanation involves ancient history but with your permission we will go back a small matter of 85 years.

"Reference to the Canton Gazette of May 1835 which one of the earliest partners Mr. James Matheson of this firm was instrumental in starting will reveal the fact that Andrew Johnstone and Robert Jardine were admitted to partnership that year. Andrew Johnstone was my great uncle so you will see that my connection with the 'Muckle Hoose' goes back to very early days and for this reason if for no other it is fitting that I should assist in raising another milestone to mark the progress of time. Andrew Johnstone by the way was a bit of a character, he hated the office and appears to have been considerably interest both in ladies and horses.

"My reason for saying he disliked office work is because of a letter from William to Robert Jardine written from Macao, where Andrew Johnstone was in charge, stating that the Great Uncle was chafing at a sedentary life. His eye for a lady is also borne out in a letter written by him from Macao to the late Sir Robert in Hongkong, in which he said inter alia:—

'My dear Robie, Your friend Donna Isabella is being married tomorrow. She is a nice little girl with a very neat foot and ankle.'

"He evidently retained his eye for a horse in spite of his sojourn in Macao, because he celebrated his return home by buying Charles XII who ran a dead heat with Euclid in the St. Leger of 1839 and won by a head in the run off.

"Incidentally he nearly killed his old mother by paying 3,000 guineas for the horse—an unheard of price in those days.

"If I inherit any of the family failings at this length of time I hope it will be admitted that I did my best to conceal my dislike for the office and that no letters giving me away will be found 80 years hence by some future Andrew or John.

"I am now through with past history, gentlemen. This office has been built with a view to the future and opens a fresh page in our business relationship with China.

"In spite of the troubles in this country a comparison of The Bund of today with that of a very few years ago reveals the fact that a great number of us remain optimists. In conclusion, gentlemen, I wish to thank you for your attendance here today. It gives me particular pleasure to find so many of my Chinese friends assisting at a ceremony which is the outward and visible sign of a mutual understanding which it has always been our policy to pursue and which leads me to hope that the house over which the St. Andrews Cross flies may continue in the future as I think it has done in the past to merit the esteem, not only of our Chinese friends but also our business competitors."

FAIR PLAY FOR GIRLS.

Too Many Overtax Their Strength

A girl who earns her parents' admiration by growing rapidly becoming taller than themselves before she is well embarked on womanhood, hardly has fair play. She often outgrows her strength, and unless her development is carefully watched and her blood kept up to the mark, she will become pale and anaemic, suffering sometimes great misery, and will run a great risk of going into a decline.

The great need of growing girls is pure blood—abundant, rich and red. In all ordinary cases the new rich blood made by Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people will enable a pale, thin girl to develop healthily to blooming womanhood. With this new blood in her veins she will gain a glow of health in her cheeks, her eyes will become clear and sparkling, and with a keen appetite for meals and power to digest food, she will throw off all lassitude and depression and grow strong and upright. In such cases Dr. Williams' pink pills impart a new interest in life.

Dr. Williams' pink pills can be bought everywhere, also, post free one bottle for $1.50, six for $8 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai. Their beneficial effect on the looks and the appetite is very quick and well-marked. This can be proved by starting a course of the Pills now.

To Jardine, Matheson & Co.

THE CHINA PRESS joins heartily in the congratulations which are being showered upon JARDINE, MATHESON & CO., LTD., on the occasion of the official opening of their great new building on the Bund. The structure itself is a permanent ornament to Shanghai, as much so as the firm is a permanent honor to China and the Far East.

And so far as Shanghai is concerned, if balances were to be cast up today, we think it would be found that JARDINE, MATHESON & Co. have done more for us than we have done for them. With no discredit to other hongs of ancient and honorable tradition among both Chinese and foreigners, would Shanghai be the splendid city it is today but for Ewo?

In a purely personal sense, THE CHINA PRESS feels itself to be under a hundred obligations to Ewo which Ewo probably remembers little about and as probably cares less. It was all in the day's work.

Our personal thanks, then, to JARDINE, MATHESON & Co., and on their not far off CENTENNIAL, we promise them a Special Number at our expense.

Japanese As American Citizens

THE decision of the United States Supreme Court in the test cases on the question of Japanese acquiring citizenship in the United States definitely settles a question that has long vexed American and Japanese diplomatic circles.

By the decision the Supreme Court holds that Japanese are not eligible for citizenship by naturalisation, although American-born Japanese are not deprived of any of the rights or benefits that naturally accrue to any native-born American. The Court's decision carries no suggestion of individual or racial inferiority. It was simply a question of whether Japanese were included in the immigration law's scope—and the Court has decided they were not.

Such a decision will meet with popular approval in California, Oregon and Washington as those three states—bordering on the Pacific Ocean—have been the focal point of Japanese immigration. The Californians have been particularly opposed to Japanese immigration and naturalisation because of the extremely large numbers of Japanese who have been settling in California, becoming American citizens, and buying or acquiring, through the land laws, much of the farming land of California.

The Californians accept those Japanese born in the United States as full-fledged citizens. Immigrating Japanese, however, have attempted to obtain citizenship in large numbers—and their citizenship would be American in name only as the Japanese, probably more than the nationals of any other country, are uneffected by the Americanisation fires of the melting pot. The same general situation has effected Western Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

For Japanese to become citizens in the future it will be necessary for Congress to pass amendments to the citizenship laws that will allow them as a race to become Americans.

The "Fair Intendment"

The legal exactitude of the ruling of the Attorney General as to the service and transportation of intoxicating liquors on American vessels will be generally accepted, says a New York Exchange. Its logic is unescapable. Prohibition "flows," or is carried, by virtue of the Eighteenth Amendment everywhere within the confines of the sovereignty of the United States. It is not restricted to "lands." "Territory?" is amphibious and may put to sea. A ship upon the high seas, flying an American flag, is constructively "territory" of the United States, and "subject to the jurisdiction thereof." The sale or transportation of intoxicating liquor on such a ship, even in the "open ocean," is as illegal as the sale or transportation of slaves on our vessels at sea, under an earlier amendment. There is no reference to the high seas in the constitutional definition of treason, but the fitting up of a vessel to commit hostilities on the high seas has been held to constitute treason. Even the Shipping Board has frequently sought to punish offenses committed against its property on the high seas, and has thereby inconsistently invoked the protection of laws of the same general jurisdiction as those whose prohibition its counsel held to be inapplicable.

As to the second part of the ruling, that which relates to foreign vessels within our ports, whether it was the "fair intendment" of those who framed and adopted the amendment, it seems a fair construction of its language. The amendment forbids the transportation into, within or out of the United States. A foreign vessel carrying intoxicating liquor within our ports is deemed to be in the same category as the individual who visits the interior of the country for purposes of pleasure or business. It is subject to the law of the port unless by treaty or otherwise there is a different agreement or understanding.

So, following the unmistakable intent of the makers of the amendment in the first ruling—an intent to "stop the whole business as far as possible," and not to treat prohibition in any "meticulous way"—and following the strict letter of the law in the second ruling, the Attorney General has made a determination which seems a "fair intendment" touching prohibition. It goes the whole distance of the assumed intent and the real cost, and is certain to bring forth interpretation by the highest courts of the full importance and effect of the prohibition laws, as well as of the extent, if any, to which Congress has legislated for foreign nations in passing them.

That the female of the species is braver than the male has once again been proven by publication of 'The Diary of a Shoe Clerk,' a detailed account of the trials and tribulations of a Shanghai gentleman who is devoting his life to kneeling at women's feet and playing 'little pigs going to market.'

In one entry the shoe clerk Samuel Pepys writes: "One woman in today claimed the shoes I tried on her weren't stylish because they didn't hurt. Her sister martyrs all say the same."

"It is a general trait among Shanghai women," he writes also, "first to discover her size, and then buy shoes two sizes smaller."

EXPLANATION
(Rondeau Redouble)

"Write me a poem," you ask, "a roundelay,
A sonnet, pantoum or a triolet;
Indite some lines that sing a love song gay,
Or frame an ode to sparkling eyes of jet.

"To celebrate the fact that we have met
Rhyme up some words for me this very day;
Get on your mark! Get ready! Now get set—
Write me a poem," you ask, "a roundelay.

"String out some words in orderly array;
Rhymes can't be scarce enough to make you fret;
Sit right down now and build for me, I pray,
A sonnet, pantoum or a triolet."

Oh, lovely lady, deep is my regret,
This one request it seems I can't obey;
You could not make me—not by plea or threat—
Indite some lines that sing a love song gay.

It may seem strange, but poems don't come that way;
They are not made to order, not as yet;
You can't command; "Please fashion me a lay,
Or frame an ode to sparkling eyes of jet."

You think me mean and stubborn? Lady, let Me say just this before you start to flay:
Some day I'll meet the girl; you just can bet
When that dame comes she will not have to say
"Write me a poem."

Population And Food

(New York Times.)

Professor Eugene Davenport, a pioneer in scientific agriculture in Illinois and a recognised authority on farm economics, before retiring to a farm in Michigan after his thirty-four years of active service as a teacher uttered a valedictory word of warning. It is published in Farm and Fireside, but it ought to be heard in the cities as well as out on the farms. It deals with the duty which everybody owes, not to the land we live in, but to the land we live from—to the soil from which we draw our sustenance. The prime question is whether it is possible "so to operate the land that it shall yield profitable crops and at the same time increase instead of decrease its fertility." Are we to become extinct, as creatures of earlier geologic periods, or may we hope for "perpetual productivity?"

Professor Davenport is unable to suggest the solution of the problem, which, if unsolved "before many generations go by," portends inevitable national decline. And this is not a careless, unstudied generalisation. It rests upon an invoice of the food-producing possibilities of the wonderfully rich-soiled State of Illinois. It appears that, while on the better lands in the hands of capable farmers permanent agriculture is not inconsistent with profitable farming, the farmer below the average and worse conditioned must take the difference either out of his living or out of his children or out of the soil, or out of all three. And he is most likely to take it out of the soil.

As a matter of fact, not only the average farmer but a "good many above the average" are mining the land—exhausting it as we work out coal mines or destroy our great forests. It "gives one gooseflesh," says Mr Davenport, to consider what a large proportion of the national domain of arable land is being "mined out" for present profits. All this in the face of bumper crops, which are, however, "subtractions from our native store of wealth." It is not enough, says this prophet, that a few know how to farm scientifically and treat the soil. It is necessary that everybody should realise that the soil has the first and not the last lien upon what is produced. We who are passing across the earth at this moment of time must realise that we have it in trust.

If any one takes the trouble to read and ponder over the statistics of the world's production of principal food stuffs, as presented in the current number of The Geographical Review, he is bound to feel with its author, Dr. Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins University, misgivings as to the world's ability to go on indefinitely increasing both its population and its average standard of consumption or of living. He will also reach the author's conclusion, which is in accord with that of the sage old teacher who has just gone back to his farm in Michigan, that this is a real problem, "perhaps the most significant one facing mankind today," and will wonder whether the human population will multiply as the flies until it reaches a saturation point at a lower standard of living. One characteristic of our agriculture is that the American farmer is in too much of a hurry. But may that not be because those who look to him for sustenance are living at too fast a pace and asking him to give when his field should lie fallow? Last week's Science reported the growing of a crop from seed to seed without the light of the sun, wholly by artificial light, thus making it possible to keep the soil working by night as well as by day and through all seasons. This is ominous for those who are to come along in the years after us and who will have to depend upon this same soil, which is theirs as well as ours.

On The Border Lines Of Knowledge

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority On Subjects Of Scientific Interest

"What gives the atoms in matter the energy to keep constant motion?" asks a reader.

Speaking of atoms "in" matter instead of atoms "of" matter indicates that he may have an incorrect understanding of the atomic theory. The atoms are not something mingled in something else called matter, but they are the constituent parts of matter itself. Without atoms there would be no matter. This is not changed by the fact, discovered recently, that atoms are themselves composed of smaller things called electrons.

Science does not account for the ultimate origin of the energy that keeps the electrons revolving, or the atoms themselves vibrating. The atoms are full of energy because they are composed of electrons endowed with constant motion. The electrons seem to be composed of electricity, or electric charges, and it is suggested that electricity and energy are somehow identical.

Electricity, then, may be an original form of motion, and so motion itself would be the basis of everything that moves. But this is not sound knowledge. As soon as men put their heads into these depths they became intoxicated with speculation. Not only does science not account for the origin of energy and motion, but it is probable that human science never can render such an accounting. We have no reason to assume, as many persons appear to do, that the state of being in motion is any less a "natural" condition of matter, or of the constituents of matter, than the state of being without motion. In fact, it is most probable that motion is universal in some form, and that nothing whatever is at rest.

We find the planets revolving around the sun in elliptical orbits. We know that they are drawn toward the sun, and yet, instead of falling into the sun they travel ceaselessly around it. Mathematically, we can account for their continued motion in their orbits and their changes of motion in different parts of the orbits, soley by considering the force that draws them direct toward the sun. But there is a tangential impulse concerned, i. e., a force at right angles to the sun's attraction, which must originally have been imparted, but how we do not know, and for the mere purposes of calculating orbital motion we do not need to know.

We may assume, as is usually done, that the tangential motion originated in a general revolution of the entire nebulous mass out of which the sun and its planets were formed by condensation and separation. But although that carries us back a step it gives no final information concerning the origin of the motion. So within the atoms, the electrons, or charges of negative electricity, appear to be in swift revolution around a nucleus, which is sometimes likened to the sun surrounded by its revolving planets.

By assuming that the nucleus is composed of, or furnished with, a charge of positive electricity, it is possible to account mathematically for the revolution around it of the negative charges, moving in miniature orbits. But, as to the first origin of all the energy thus locked up, as it were, inside the atoms even speculation is able to give no ultimate account.

The fact seems to be that all human knowledge is sustained, or buoyed up like a balloon, by a composition so rare that it escapes analysis. Our "solid facts" rest on ethereal foundations, as if we could stand, and walk, and build a house on clouds. If we dig through the cellar bottom we come out in vapor, or empty space. Energy is at once nothing and everything. The immaterial passes into the material, but we have no comprehension, or sense, of it except when it takes the material form. Out of that it is to us as nothing, although we still have indication of its existence through certain associated or consequent aspects of material substance.

It is sometimes stimulating to indulge in a little speculation on these lines, but a glass or two of such wine is sufficient. It is a tonic for the imagination, but it is not food for knowledge. Most of our studies must be directed to the phenomena of facts as nature presents them to us. Therein is sufficient occupation and training for the intelligence without striving too much after unreachable ultimate causes.

U. S. Court For China

Two judgments were handed down in the United States Court for China by Judge Charles S. Lobingier yesterday afternoon. In one Judge Lobingier formally dismissed the suits brought by Mr. and Mrs. Percy W. Pate against Dr. Paul Martin, on the plaintiff's request, holding that "dismissal of an action before trial where there is no cross action, is the plaintiff's absolute right." The judgment, in full, was as follows:

"Motions are filed in both of these cases to dismiss without prejudice. Defendant objects on the ground that he desires an adjudication of the issues raised by the pleadings, but the answer is merely a general denial and there is no cross action by defendant. Under such circumstances the rule seems to be well settled that dismissal before trial is plaintiff's right. (1).

"I know of no case where it is held," said one Federal Judge, "and I can conceive of no reason why it should be held, that where no testimony has been taken, and no cross-bill filed the complainant would not have the right to dismiss his case." (2).

And as was previously observed by another:

"The general rule that a complainant has the right to dismiss his bill at any time before hearing is too firmly established to require any citation of authority. It is equally well settled that the annoyance to the defendant of a second litigation is no ground for refusing to dismiss the bill. The only question which can arise in any given case is whether the complainant comes within the exceptions to the rule. These exceptions may be briefly stated: First, where the dismissal would deprive the defendant of some substantial right which has accrued to him since the suit was commenced; second, where the defendant prays for, or is entitled to, some affirmative relief, as, for example, where there is a cross-bill." (3).

Of course the dismissal must be without prejudice, (4) i.e., plaintiffs may sue again upon the same cause of action. This might be annoying to defendant but it would not constitute an objection which the law recognises.

It appearing that these cases do not fall within any of the exceptions and that plaintiffs have an absolute right of dismissal both actions are accordingly dismissed at plaintiffs' costs.

By the Court,
Charles S. Lobingier,
Judge.

Mr. H. C. Mei for the motions and Mr. F. J. Schuhl of Schuhl and Schoenfeld opposed.

In the second judgment handed down Judge Lobingier allowed Mr. L. W. Hartigan, counsel for Mrs. Alice E. Rude, to file a petition intervening in the case of Emil S. Fischer vs. Charles Stone, now before the Court, as follows:

"This is a motion for leave to intervene by one who claims to be the absolute owner of the premises involved in the controversy which has already been heard between two parties each claiming to be first lienors. That such an interest is a proper basis for intervention is unquestioned (1) and the only objection here raised is as to the time of the application. This objection comes principally from the present intervenor who invokes the provision (2) governing intervention which provides that it may be availed of "before trial." That section has already been interpreted by this Court (3) and it was pointed out that

"while intervention, as a matter of right, is available only 'before trial' (4) the Court is expressly required to bring in other parties 'when a complete determination of the controversy cannot be had without' them. (5) Moreover, 'substitution of another party for a plaintiff whose right to maintain the action is uncertain or non-existent may be made by leave of Court.' (6) It is clear therefore that the delay in intervention does not preclude the Court from admitting other parties where the situation seems to require it."

The Federal Courts are as a rule quite liberal in the matter of intervention. The Supreme Court in one case (7) allowed it after the evidence had been taken. The Court of Appeals reversed the order of a previous judge of this Court denying intervention. (8) But what is needed here is not intervention as the term is used in the Remedial Code or in the authority (9) cited by intervenor's counsel, but the admission of a new though necessary party. For the petition which the proposed intervenor asks leave to file challenges the validity of both of the alleged incumbrances and the denial of the privilege would almost certainly cause further litigation in this or some other court. Indeed, as the proposed intervenor alleges that she is a Danish subject, the refusal to allow her a hearing in this forum would almost inevitably lead to a conflict of jurisdiction, which is one of the primary purposes of Section 53 of the Extraterritorial Remedial Code.

Nor can we see that any hardship will result either to plaintiff or to intervenor by following this course. It is true that their evidence has been presented; but arguments have not yet been submitted and it will save much time to hear the new party now and here rather than to compel her to institute another proceeding.

On the whole we are of the opinion that it will be manifestly to the interests of all parties to admit this proposed intervenor and this is accordingly ordered upon condition (a) that she file a submission to the jurisdiction of this court agreeing to abide by its judgment, subject, of course, to the right of appeal; and (b) that the evidence already taken be regarded as having been received against her. (10)

Upon compliance with these conditions she may file her petition and plaintiffs and existing intervenors are allowed ten days to answer the same after which provision will be made for taking additional evidence.

By the Court,
Charles S. Lobingier,
Judge.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIEFFON, M. D.,
Chicago, Ill.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desir." result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D.,
Omaha, Neb.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D.,
St. Louis, Mo.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D.,
Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
J. A. BOARMAN, M. D.,
Kansas City, Mo.

Celebrate Anniversary Of Fiume Seizure

PHOTOGRAPH taken before the Bar Roma, the meeting place of the Fascisti, in Fiume, on the celebration of the third anniversary of the seizure of the city by the poetwarrior, Gabriele d'Annunzio, who took part in the celebration of the capture of the city from the Hungarians.

Mission Workers In Past Had Many Odd Experiences

Dr. J. Darroch gave a very interesting talk at the Young Men's Hebrew Association last night on the experiences of a missionary thirty years ago. Rabbi W. Hirsch presided and there was a very large gathering of ladies and gentlemen.

Rabbi Hirsch, in introducing the lecturer, mentioned that Dr. Darroch was leaving for England on the Empress of Canada, and it would be very absorbing to hear of the experience of one who had spent a great portion of his life in China, and whose enthusiasm for an ideal was inspiring. Most people did not think of the difficulties that people with ideals had to go through.

Dr. Darroch explained that thirty-five years ago when he commenced mission work it was extremely difficult to find a person willing to rent a house to a foreigner in an inland city. The most absurd stories were circulated regarding the purposes of the missionaries. They were said to abstract the heart and eyes of children with which to make medicine and even wise and cultured people believed these tales.

For this reason public opinion was strongly against anyone renting a house to a foreigner and when some one had the hardihood to do so, the house that was handed over was usually one with a sinister reputation for being haunted or in some way unlucky.

The lecturer explained in detail how on one occasion a venerable looking old Chinese gentleman came to the street-chapel and listened attentively to the preaching. He sat well forward and attracted the attention of the missionary by his devout behavior and reverent attitude. When he was somewhat familiar with the preacher he took occasion to stay behind one day and informed him that he had a house in a neighboring city which he would be glad to turn over for a chapel. He said he appreciated the doctrines he had heard expounded and would not charge anything like the usual rent for his house as it would be an honor to him to have it put to such good purpose.

The house was duly rented and though less than ten dollars per month was paid for it the neighbors declared that this was twice as much as it was really worth.

The missionary was for a long time in the dark as to the occupation of his landlord who was plainly a person of some importance in the city. But one day in a burst of confidence the old man let him know that he was "the king of the scallawags" or in other words the head policeman of the city. He said "There is not a beggar dies his trade here who does not pay me for the privilege; there is not a pickpocket or thief who visits this district who does not report himself to me before he dare begin operations. If you lose anything let me know and I will see it is returned to you before a day is over." And he kept his word.

Living under these circumstances the preaching of the gospel and gathering a church was no easy matter. But in course of time the evil reputation with which work was begun was lived down and good relations established between the missionary and his neighbors. Many amusing instances of misunderstandings in the early days were related and the audience were interested in the tale of life in the interior and the lecturer's early experiences.

Mr. J. E. Salmon in proposing a vote of thanks to the lecturer said that all that Dr. Darroch stated of the condition prevailing thirty years ago were quite true. The incidents narrated were being enacted in Shanghai today, and if any doubt was entertained about this it would be settled by an investigation in the precincts of the International Mixed Court and among the police and the relatives of some of those who are prosecuted. The Chinese mind had not changed. The methods described by the lecturer still obtained, except that they were being adopted with modern improvements.

Japanese Are Not Eligible But Not Inferior, Says U.S.

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Nov. 14.—The Supreme Court's decision that Japanese subjects are not eligible for nationalisation in the United States holds that the Japanese are not white within the meaning of United States law.

The Court had before it three test cases from the Pacific coast. The Court holds that Japanese are not entitled to enter into a business partnership under United States law, thus confirming the decisions of the Californian Courts and adds that the legislation and interpretation of it does not imply any suggestion of individual or racial inferiority.

GERMANY WOULD GO FIFTY-FIFTY IN REPARATIONS

Seeks Time To Stabilise Mark, Then Issue Internal Loan

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, 14.—The text of the German Note to the Reparations Commission generally confirms the forecast cabled earlier. The moratorium would apply to payments in cash and in kind though readiness is expressed to continue deliveries in kind as far as they do not entail an increase of the floating debt.

The 1,000,000,000 gold marks advanced by the Reichsbank and foreign banks would be administered by an independent board and the internal loan would be issued when the stabilisation of the mark had sufficiently advanced. Half of the proceeds of the internal loan and the whole of the foreign loan would be utilised to cover the Treaty payments in cash and in kind and the other half of the internal loan would be applied to the German budget.

Germany promises administrative economies, to avoid unproductive expenditure, to take measures to increase production while retaining the eight-hour day as the normal working day and to restrict importation of luxuries and alcohol. She demands equal economic treatment for Germany and proposes a conference of international financiers with regard to granting a credit to Germany.

WANT 3-YEAR STAY

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The German note to the Reparations Commission is expected to be published today. The main feature of it is the Reichsbank's offer to participate to the extent of 500,000,000 gold marks in a 1,000,000,000 gold marks international loan for the purpose of stabilising the mark.

According to the newspapers the Note also demands a definitive settlement of reparations and a three or four year's moratorium. Germany in return will undertake to increase production by prolonging working hours, economise by a reduction of the number of officials and issue an internal loan.

Give Chinese A Square Deal Is Plea To Authors

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 14.—In a speech at the Forum Club today Mr. Chu Chao-hsin, the Chinese Charge d'Affairs, paid a tribute to the services of Sir John Jordan, Mr. Alfred Sze and Dr. Wellington Koo in bringing about closer Anglo-Chinese relations.

Mr. Chu Chao-hsin alluded to the modernisation of Chinese ladies. He predicted that the Chinese would come to the front as journalists, doctors, diplomatists and even as suffragettes.

He appealed to dramatists to treat China more fairly and candidly. The Chinese were very much like Westerners only they looked different. China was not crumbling to pieces, he said.

The Chinese had been at the business of nation making for many centuries before some the Western nations started it, he added. They were only adapting modern conditions to their national life.
